

The Forbes Grocery Store.

Mr. Tandy McGee, who has charge of this department, begs to assure his friends that the stock was bought low for cash, that the goods selected are the best the market affords, and that the line is very full. He asks his friends to call and see him and his new stock. If you have any nice hams and shoulders bring them in and get what you want in exchange. We want fresh eggs too, and fresh butter.

HIGH SCHOOL NOW ASSURED

Council Donates $10,000 Lot and Approves a $40,000 Mortgage on Same.

SCHOOL TO COST $100,000

School Board to Pay Notes of $2,000 a Year and City to Pay Interest.

The council met Friday night and transacted some deferred business and considered the important High School matter.

Superintendent Barksdale Hamlett and Secretary J. E. McPherson, of the White Public School Board, presented a resolution directing the Mayor to execute deeds to the proposed High School lot on Walnut street and the colored school lot on Second street, transferring the lots to the Public School Board. The resolution was discussed and passed by unanimous vote of the council.

Mayor Meacham thereupon vetoed so much of the resolution as transferred the colored school lot to the Public School Board, upon the ground that the White School Board under its charter could not acquire property except for the white schools and that the colored school lot should be held by the city until the colored schools were provided with some legally authorized board of control. The Mayor also took the position that an attempt of the White School Board to own a colored school, except as provided by the State Board of Education, would be a violation of the state law requiring separate schools in fact as well as in theory. The council then passed the resolution over the Mayor's veto, and the deeds were executed in open council without further delay.

The council then passed an ordinance providing $40,000 to invest in one half of the $100,000 High School, the lot representing the other $10,000 to be paid by the city. The ordinance was changed to meet some objections of the Mayor, pointed out by him. As finally passed it provides for an issue of $40,000 of interest bearing notes, secured by a mortgage on the property. The notes are to fall due $2,000 each year for 20 years, but all may be redeemed after one year at any interest paying period. The rate of interest is 4 per cent and no city taxes to be collected on them. The notes are to be issued to bearer and will remain the property of the School Board, being hypothecated as collateral security for bank notes that will be discounted by local banks. The First National Bank agrees to take $20,000 of them and the City Bank will probably take the others.

The mortgage notes will be realized on as the money is needed. It is proposed to begin the new High School building by April 1st and have it ready for school in September.

Mayor Meacham approved the ordinance Saturday night. Several new business matters were laid before the council and referred to the proper committee. An order was made replacing the stone crossings removed from Ninth street when the street was rebuilt last year.

The final conditions of the Hopkinsville Stone Co.'s contract for crush stone were agreed upon and the contract ordered signed.

LETTER FROM MISS STARLING

noons. Last night we had a musicale, though none of the music was of a very high order, we had lots of fun. A Mr. Palmer has one of the sweetest tenor voices I ever heard.

I have made quite a reputation with my biscuit. There was no rolling pin or bread board, no sour milk or soda, so I was very doubtful as to the outcome, but I made drop biscuit, that were baked in a tin box for an oven and fire put on top and underneath, and they were a great success. I have been asked for beaten biscuit, which I never tried to make. But I have promised to try sometime. You had better send me your recipe, in case I should want to make them in Chiang Mai.

The mail goes out this afternoon so I will close for this time. We leave here next Tuesday for Lakawn where we will spend Xmas with the missionaries there. Will get to Chiang Mai some time the first week in Jan. If I don't get another letter to you before leaving here (I want to do so, but with three other girls in my room and 13 living in this house, there is absolutely no quiet), I will write you from Lakawn.

MORE SUITS

Filed For Spring Term of Court.

One among the last suits to be fived Friday for trial at the spring term of circuit court was that of A. M. Miller against the L. & N. railroad company. Miller is a farmer and resides about half way between Casky and Pembroke. He alleges that on the evening of Jan. 20 last he boarded the train here for Casky and that on arrival at that place he was not allowed a reasonable time nor sufficient opportunity to get off in safety, that the train started with a jerk while he was in the act of alighting and that he was thrown to the ground and badly injured.

Dr. J. Paul Keith has filed a petition, setting forth the claim that he is the properly elected health officer for the city and praying a perpetual injunction against Dr. J. E. Stone and the recently appointed board of health, to prevent them from interfering with him. Dr. Keith says in his petition that he was elected in December by the board of health to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Dr. R. L. Woodard, that the term of this board will not expire until January, 1911, and that as he was not removed for cause nor his resignation requested, he is the rightful holder of the office of city health officer.
